

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC TRAVELER,
SEPTEMBER 2006

Portland, Oregon HOTEL DELUXE

Minutes from Washington Park and the Pearl District, Portland's trendy dining/shopping hub, this renovated art deco hotel takes its cue from Old Hollywood, with Coco Chanel-inspired table lamps and photos of black-and-white film classics. Guests stay on one of seven film-era-themed floors (second floor: Hitchcock). A "spiritual menu" lets guests choose which holy book they'd like in their rooms, from the Torah to the Bhagavad Gita. Free movies are shown in the screening room. From $149; www.hoteldeluxeportland.com.