

Fly to Portland $198 round-trip

Wednesday, April 29, 2009

Plan now to pamper Mom - or yourself - this spring through early 2010 in Portland, Oregon. The airfare deal from Continental is a downright steal at just $198 round-trip.

To land Continental's $198 deal, give at least a one-week advance notice of travel. Trips can be taken seven days a week (providing "T" seats available) through March 26, 2010. And don't worry about blackout dates - there are none. However, you may find this rate not available on peak dates surrounding Thanksgiving and Christmas. The minimum stay at this rate is any three nights (Saturday overnight is not mandatory). The round-trip inclusive rate is $237.40.

This super sale rate does not have a ticket-by date — meaning it could disappear in hours. Buy tickets right now!

Airfares subject to change without notice. Start your search with Kayak.com to ensure this rate still exists when you get around to making a reservation.
